Cast chosen for fall plays

Lights! Camera! Action! The fall play is underway!

Tryouts have been completed for the two one-act plays, "A Thurber Carnival", and "A Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden".

"A Thurber Carnival", under the direction of Miss Denise Feltz, takes several writings from the American humorist, James Thurber, and turns them into a play. A very interesting difference in this play is that the performers will change characters in different segments.

"A Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden", by Thorton Wilder, is under the direction of Mr. Steve Gibson. It is similar in style to the classic play, "Our Town". It is set in the 1920's and follows a family's trek from Newark, N.J. to Trenton and Camden.

Approximately forty students tried out for the possible fifteen parts on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 28 and 29. The cast was chosen, not through rehearsed readings, but by their ability to do impromptu acting.

"Although there are only fifteen onstage parts," remarked Mr. Gibson, "The backstage work is just as important."

"The stage crew and the entire drama club are vital for producing a quality play," he continued, "There are plenty of parts for people who would like to work behind the scenes. We want to make this an all school production."

"I think it's going to be a very fun and exciting play!" exclaimed Miss Feltz, "I hope the audience enjoys it as much as the cast and everyone else involved enjoys doing it for them!"

Peer counselors offer guidance, aid

Students wishing to talk with their fellow students about problems may again take advantage of peer counseling at Lincoln. According to Mrs. Cheryl Matthias, LHS Guidance Department Head, "The guidance counselors can only see so many students a day. With students acting as peer counselors, they can meet with more students and talk with them about their problems."

The peer counselors meet with the LHS Guidance Staff for a ten-week training session. There they learn how to deal with problems facing students such as domestic troubles or problems with friends. They help their fellow students cope with these problems. Peer counselors can run rap sessions with students who have similar problems, or with other peer counselors. There the student can speak to someone on their own level and feel better about it.

Anyone interested in becoming a peer counselor should be willing to make a commitment to help people. Said Matthias, "The student should be trustworthy and not judgemental." Some students were already nominated for peer counseling or were asked if they were interested in their homeroom a few weeks ago. A list of possible candidates was made by the guidance department. But you may still talk to Mrs. Matthias if you are interested.

Sessions for the peer counselors are not set yet, but will most likely be once a week either 5abc, seventh hour, or after school. During the sessions the peer counselors get together to talk with some of the guidance department counselors.

Besides helping their fellow students work out their problems, some of the peer counselors may be able to work on "Help Line". Last year the peer counselors watched and observed how "Help Line" works.

The peer counseling program started four years ago at LHS, and is expanding. This year should be the best year yet, allowing a peer counselor to be accessible to every student.

Sophomores elect new class officers

There is a great deal of experience among this year's new officers. Patti Osieczanek was president of the student council at Washington Jr. High. Sue Zimmer was the vice president, also at Washington. Diane Zimmerman has served on Wilson Jr. High's student council for the past three years. Sharon Zimmer was the council secretary at Washington.

"I like getting involved in school activities," commented Sue Zimmer. "I really enjoyed being an officer on the student council last year, and decided I wanted to do it again."

The Sophomore class officers do a great deal of work over homecoming. They help organize the skit and put a lot of work into their float.

They are also involved in the choosing of class rings, and organize and participate in fund raising events.

The elections for junior and senior class officers as well as the student senate were conducted last spring.

Bills expensive at LHS; Cost continues to rise

Inflation is raising the price of everything. Food is going up, gas is going up, automobile prices are going up, and utilities are going up, too. Nobody realizes this more than Lincoln and the Manitowoc School system.

Five years ago, it cost $57,842 to heat LHS. Last year, heat was cut back to approximately seventy-five per cent of what was used five years ago, yet the total heating cost was up 20 per cent. Heating cost for the whole school system was up nearly fifty per cent last year as compared to five years ago. The insulated windows the school system installed at Lincoln and others schools is helping keep the costs down.

Water and sewer bills have increased also. Over the past five years Lincoln has cut back over fifty per cent but charges increased from $3,092 to nearly forty-six hundred dollars. The whole school system has cut back, yet costs have gone up nearly seventy-five per cent.

Just like everything else, the cost of electricity has gone up too. In the 1976-77 school year Lincoln used about one-million kilowatt hours of electricity at a cost of about thirty-two thousand dollars. Last year only 950,798 kilowatt hours were used at a cost of thirty-six thousand dollars. At the junior high schools, almost twenty thousand dollars was spent last year for electricity compared to about eighteen thousand dollars five years ago.

Cutting back doesn't mean that the cost will go down, also. The public schools will have to cut back even more to keep up with prices.

Enrollment drops again

Declining enrollments forced several Manitowoc elementary schools to close in the past few years. Now the effects of declining enrollment are being seen here at Lincoln.

It isn't just Lincoln, high schools around the country have declining enrollments.

Lincoln reached a peak enrollment of twenty-two hundred students the year before Roncalli High School opened. Since then it has been steadily declining. By fall of 1984, enrollment is expected to be down to about fourteen hundred students.

One reason for lower enrollment is that more students are dropping out. Dropouts are no longer required to go to the vocational school. So more drop out. The other reason is because there were fewer kids born throughout the 1960's and 1970's.

The number of teachers goes down as enrollment goes down. So in 1984 there will probably be fewer teachers here also. The number of teachers now is considerably less than the year when twenty-two students attended LHS.

Educational Fair aids students

Many students attended College Day last year, picked up a whole pile of information, and signed their names to the mailing lists of about twenty different colleges and universities. About a week later they started getting mail. To this day they're still getting mail which they either throw away, or add to the 50 pound pile laying under their bed or in their closet.

Hopefully, the same students learned from their mistakes. If you're serious about a college education, do yourself a favor by planning ahead for this year's college day. It can really be a helpful day if you use it right.

First, pick up a copy of "How To Choose A College" from the Guidance Department. In this booklet is a bundle of information to help you make the right decision. There are such things as a checklist for students, stating things which should be done before college, admission policies, financial aid information, a sample letter for students who wish to write to a college, and a list of questions to ask yourself to aid you in making your decision (page 10).

In this questionnaire are many hints as to the kind of questions you should ask the representatives at college day. Do you want to attend a college which emphasizes religious life? Do you want to join a fraternity or a sorority? How will you fit in socially? These are the types of questions to ask. Mrs. Cheryl Matthias, the counselor in charge of college day, said, "I encourage students to verbally talk; sit down and ask the representatives questions." It's the only way to really find out exactly what you want compared to what they offer.

When signing up for mailing lists, only sign up for those colleges you're thinking of attending. If you sign up for a bunch of them, not only do you get a whole lot of "stuff" you don't want, but the colleges are sending you a lot of unnecessary items and wasting unnecessary dollars.

"Take time to think about what you want out of college," said Matthias, "so you'll know what to ask representatives. When you leave, you'll be one step closer to making your decision."

Community causes drinking problem

Minors drinking...minors drinking-...minors drinking...Of all the problems that our city has, that's the one which must hold the most attention. It concerns everyone: parents, teachers, city officials, neighbors, and of course, minors. An abundance of rules have been made to try to curb the problem, although none have had much effect. Why?

Quite simply, you can't solve a problem until you get to the cause of the problem, which in this case is most accurately labeled "upbringing". This is not to say that our parents are at fault; they aren't (directly). It isn't the fault of city officials (directly). And we certainly weren't taught to drink through our church (directly). However, kids still can't be blamed, for when you put all those indirect causes together, minors come out least at fault.

It isn't a kid's fault that you can drive down the main streets in Manitowoc and find a bar on nearly every corner. You can't blame a minor that there is a bar in the basement of almost every church in our city. And what about our way of life socially? You walk in the door of someone's home and the conversation goes something like this, "Hi! How are you? Have a seat. Can I mix you a drink?" (not necessarily in that order).

All of the above examples are innocent, and have little effect on an impressionable child, except when he or she is exposed to all of them, constantly, through his or her entire childhood. The kids in our city were literally brought up thinking of drinking as a way of life...as custom...you just drink to drink. That's the way we do things in Manitowoc.

This is not an excuse for kids to go out and break the law. It is still illegal to drink under age. This only suggests that we take a look at why kids drink, because continually making more laws isn't going to get rid of the problem. Minors break the law when they drink, and making more laws is only going to give them more laws to break. This also suggests that maybe the way to curb the problem is to make drinking something that isn't such a "normal" or "everyday" thing to do. Who knows? It's worth a try.

Flashes welcomes letters to editor

Readers, Flashes doesn't want to do all the talking. Do you have a gripe? Would you like to commend someone? Is there something which you would simply like to state your opinion about? If you have a message to get across, you can write to us, and we'll print your letter. Flashes always welcomes your letters.

Letters to the Editor must be relevant to the LHS community, and no more than 300 words in length. Your letter must be signed, although names will be withheld upon request. Flashes also reserves the right to edit letters which are repetitious, or which don't fit in the space provided. If we decide not to print your letter, we will return it with a written explanation as to why we didn't print it.

Letters can be mailed to Lincoln High School, 1433 S. 8th Street, Manitowoc, WI 54220. You can also drop them in Mr. Hinstorff's mailbox in the office, or bring them up to room 310 in person.

Flash-lites

This article is for all students who will resort to a anything to get a free paper.

Some girls will walk up to the stand, holding a purse the size of a bowling bag and say, "You're not going to make me look through this are you?" We have two choices. Give her a paper, or take the risk of getting hit with a bowling bag.

A group of kids gather together, their backs to the newspaper stand. One of the members has a ticket. He walks to the stand and flashes his card. After receiving his paper, he heads back to the group. The next person (trying to be unnoticeable) takes the card, puts his finger over the name on the card, and receives his illegal paper. The group leaves laughing, thinking they pulled a good one over us, but the Flashes staff is laughing even harder.

Rule number one on the back of your publication card states "This ticket is nontransferable and may be forfeited if altered, or improperly used." Someday the Flashes staff will enforce this rule. Then we'll have the last laugh.

Letters to the Editor

Teachers Unaware

Dear Editor,

The school year is barely a month underway, and already we are faced with a problem which occurs each year. Every day our daughter comes home from school loaded down with books, and instead of looking forward to a release from school duties, she faces instead several hours of homework.

We realize the need for some assigned work outside the classroom, but two or three hours an evening is simply too much. Aren't teachers aware that when they assign "only a half hour" of homework, many of their students have three to five other class, and that more than likely the teachers of those classes are also assigning "only a half hour" of homework? Simple addition will tell you that a student can easily be burdened with several hours of homework every night.

It is especially the serious, college-bound student who will have this problem because the caliber of classes they select will be the type in which homework is more apt to be assigned. These are also the students who are going to get their greatest educational benefits from the classroom itself, and probably very little from the frustation of too much homework.

Teachers, why not consider this? First, cut down on the amount you assign. Allow fifteen minutes of class time for working on assignments, or allow students to do assignments for extra credit, not penalizing them if they don't have the time to complete it.

You will still get the best from the best students.

Homecoming plans begin

Plans and new ideas are already in the making, as LHS readies itself for Homecoming '81, next weekend.

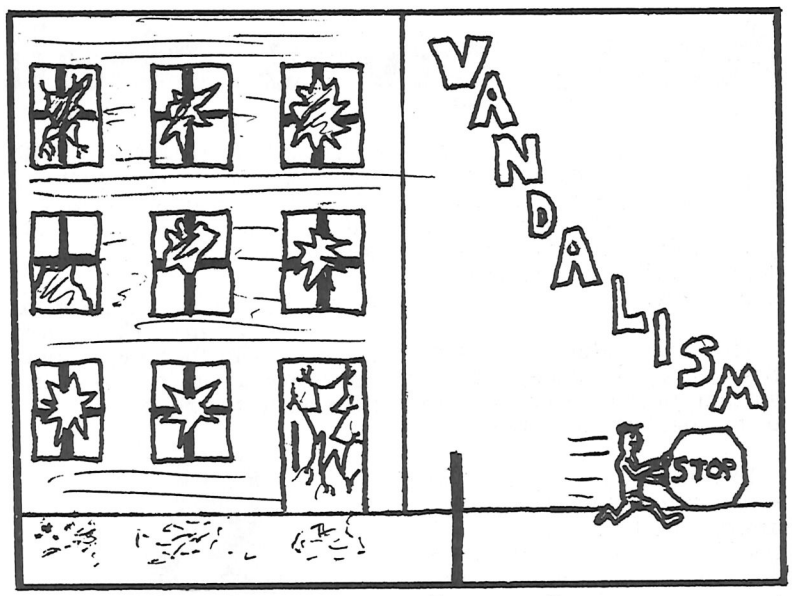
This year's Homecoming Court was not yet chosen at press time, but it will consist of six or seven members of the football team and three or four members from the cross-country squad. The "King" will be chosen by the football players.

Homecoming activities will start with "Spirit Week". Pep club, which planned Spirit Week, has some new ideas this year. In keeping with the times, there is an "Urban Cowboy" day planned for Monday. Tuesday will be "50's" day, with "Button and Bow" day on Wednesday. Thursday is scheduled for "Hat" day, and the traditional "Red and White" day will be on Friday. Pep club hopes eveyone will participate, helping keep with the school spirit. Homecoming buttons will be sold for 60 cents.

The weekend of Homecoming will begin with the pep rally Friday night. It will take place in the auditorium at 7:30. The traditional bonfire follows and it will again be at the Yacht Club.

Saturday begins with the Homecoming Parade at noon which includes the LHS Marching Band, drill team, and floats from each class and the different clubs. The Homecoming Game, which has the Green Bay Southwest Trojans battling the Lincoln Ships, will begin at 1:30 p.m. The winners of the spirit and float contest will be announced at halftime. The LHS marching band will perform at halftime also.

All these events lead up to the Homecoming Dance, which will be from 8 to 12 p.m., in the old gym. This year's theme is "Harvest Moon" with an autumn-like setting. The band that will perform is "Syntori" from Mukwonago, WI. Intermission is at 10:30 and refreshments will be served. Tickets are $3 for singles and $6 per couple.



Vandalism rate dropping

Believe it or not, vandalism around Lincoln has decreased over the years. Principal William Malinsky is very pleased with the improvement. "Our school has gone far below the level of vandalism than other schools its size," he said.

Suspension from school may result from getting caught vandalizing. Paying for the damage done is also included among the penalties. The amount paid will depend on the amount of damage done, according to Malinsky.

Manitowoc Police Lieutenant Roger Halverson stated that city-wide vandalism had gone down 17 per cent in 1980, but has slightly increased this year.

The type of vandalism that occurs is most frequently window damage. A great deal of vandalism occurs to vehicles, as well.

"A juvenile that is caught vandalizing for the first time, is generally turned over to their parents. However, if a second offense occurs, a citation and a fine are usually issued," said Halverson.

The 12-20 year age group seems to be the most common in reported cases of vandalism.

The most common reasons given by vandals are anger at society, boredom, drug abuse, and disciplinary or personal problems. Kids feel as though they have to take their anger out on someone or something, therefore damaging something that doesn't belong to them. Damaging someone else's property doesn't solve anything. It only gets the vandal into more trouble when they get caught and their parents find out.

Although some cases are reported by people who see the vandals, most come from the actual victims of the crime.

Nobody has the right to damage another person's property, and the police ask that anyone witnessing an act of vandalism report it immediately.

Educational Fair coming soon

On Oct. 22 this year's Educational Fair will take place. The Educational Fair (alias Post High School Education Day, College Day, etc.) is a perfect opportunity for those students who may or may not be continuing their education to get information from the military and/or various colleges and universities.

You may be admitted only if you have signed up in your homeroom or in the guidance office. If you haven't signed up yet and wish to particiapte in the Educational Fair, stop by the guidance office right away. Anyone not signed up will not be allowed into the JFK.

The Educational Fair will run from 9-12 a.m. There will be two sessions on financial aid at 10 and 11 a.m.

A total of 77 schools will be represented. That includes the military, Wisconsin universities, private four year colleges, and even the University of Minnesota.

Only juniors and seniors may participate in the Educational Fair. Lincoln will not be the only school going, though. Two Rivers, Roncalli, Lutheran, and the parents of students are also invited to attend.

Students, this is the opportunity to ask all those questions you were afraid to ask, and to get all the information you need without the bother of sending for it.

College preparation should start now

Seniors planning on going to college can get any information they need from the Guidance Department.

Mr. Harold Carlson is in charge of the Wisconsin Career Information System. Mr. Lindy De Namur aids students with college applications, S.A.T., and A.C.T. tests. Miss Carla Van Haden helps with the process of applying for financial aid, and Mr. Brian Shaw helps students with scholarships.

Most University of Wisconsin schools started accepting applications Oct. 1, but out-of-state schools vary. Students who have decided where they want to go should apply as soon as possible, because dormitories space is limited and they tend to fill up quickly.

Students needing financial aid may pick up forms in the Guidance Department sometime during December. Applications may be sent in after Jan. 1. The earlier students apply, the better chance they have for receiving aid if they qualify. Funds have been cut so there is less money available.

Other ways of raising money include grants, scholarships, the work study program, and student loans. Student loans are offered through some banks and the Board of Education. Other organizations that offer loans include some unions, clubs, and insurance companies.

Anyone interested in obtaining more information about a specific college can find reference books in the LHS Library, the Public Library, or the Guidance Department. Computer printouts about specific colleges may also be obtained from the Guidance Department.

More information could also be obtained from college representatives at the Educational fair.

Army gives challenges

Next spring, seniors are going to graduate and many will have no job and no money for school, but there is one place that will give anyone who qualifies a job. It's the U.S. Army.

The Army offers opportunities, money for college, and a written guarantee for training in the field of your choice.

Provided you pass the schooling, the Army will assign you to a specific job in the U.S. or over seas. But if you don't pass your training, SSG Ron Fallier said, "Then you list three choices of schooling you would like, but you're at the needs of the Army."

Anyone who decides to join the Army must take the Armed Forces Vocational Aptitude Battery (AFVAB), a test of basic knowledge in many different subjects. If these tests are passed a physical must be taken in Milwaukee to become eligible to join the Army.

The Delayed Entry Program (DEP) allows enlistees to take up to one full year to join the Army. This allows students to enlist before they graduate from High School.

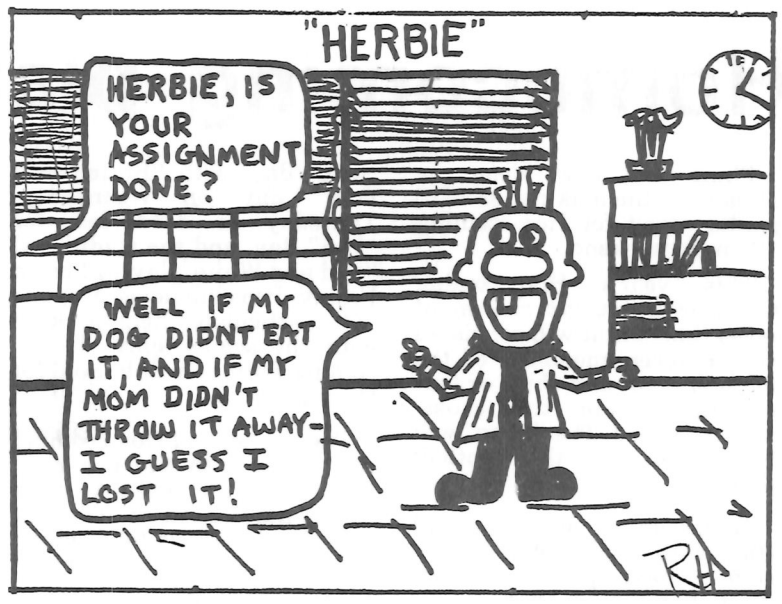
The first six weeks are spent in basic training. Then, each person is sent their own way to their specialized training and then on to their job.

The Army pays a starting salary of over five hundred dollars a month. They also offer 30 days of leave (vacation) each year.

The Army also helps pay for college. Any serviceman who wishes to attend college while in the Army can get up to 75 per cent of their tuition paid by the Army. For every dollar that is saved while in the army, the army will give two dollars for college, up to a total of $8,100. Training received in the Army is recognized for credits by many colleges in the army.

A major drawback to joining the Army is that if you don't like it, you are stuck with it until your enlistment time has been served. The Army has eased that problem somewhat by allowing enlistments of two, three, or four years.

If the full-time Army isn't quite what you want, you might consider ROTC or the Army Reserve. The Reserve only requires one weekend of service a month.



UCLA sponsors math bowl; Math club members attend

This summer seven members of the LHS Math club traveled to the Math convention held at the UCLA campus in California. Students from all over the country attended. The seven from LHS were: Keith Brefczynski, John Daley, Chris Kramer, Jim Kubsch, Peter Salkowski, Greg Stock, and Todd Stock. Mr. Ken Steege, math teacher at LHS, his wife, and son also went along.

The trip lasted a total of six fun filled days. They left on August 12. The trip was not all math oriented, though. They traveled by city bus to see such things as Universal Studios, Disneyland, and Marineland.

During the convention they had a choice of many talks they could listen to. Some dealt with computers. Some were on the lighter side, such as probability with gambling, and Rubick's Cube. There was a big variety so you were bound to find something of interest to you.

They had math bowls too. Daley placed 13th out of about 320, although not everyone participated. As a whole, the LHS team placed 14th.

The trip was open to both those who are members of the math club and those who weren't, however, everyone who did go was in math club. They raised their money by having car washes and selling the famous "Goo Goo" bars (which they are selling again this year).

If you have any questions about the trip, or would like to join math club, talk to Mr. Steege. They'd love to listen to any ideas you may have about activities or fundraisers. They invite you to join Math Club, and bring a friend.

Homecoming events changed greatly

Homecoming was first introduced to Lincoln Nov. 3 and 4, 1933, by the Jr. Chamber of Commerce in celebration of the annual rivalry between Manitowoc and Two Rivers. It took the place of an annual celebration called the "Manitowee'n".

Friday night initiated Homecoming with a parade which represented each organization of LHS, a bonfire at which an effigy of Two Rivers was burned, a snake dance, and a pep rally at which Jugo Earpe, a famous Green Bay Packer, spoke.

Festivities continued Saturday morning with a football game and a cross country race between Manty and Two Rivers Alumni. The big game was Saturday afternoon.

The first Queen was chosen in 1942 in an open popularity contest conducted by the senior class. The Queen, Mary Zingsheim, chose her King, and the girls escorted the boys.

In 1944, instead of a Homecoming court, the football players and their dates were introduced at the intermission of the dance, and a short speech was given about each player.

Homecoming has changed a lot since then. Again this year, festivities will begin Friday night with a pep rally and bonfire, continuing Saturday with the parade at noon, and the game at 1:30. The climax of the two-day celebration is the dance. It will be in the old gym from 8 p.m to midnight.

The band will be "Syntori". The Homecoming court members were not yet announced at press time.

Meidl, Ording WCUB 'Stars'

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to be that voice on the radio? Why haven't you tried it?

Two students at LHS found a way to do it. Kim Meidl and Kim Ording both participated in WCUB's "Search for a Star" contest. Not only did they try out, but both made it to the finals.

This contest is run once a year by WCUB for a few purposes. It is one way to search for new talent, and potential part-time help. But it also gives the Manitowoc public a chance to get on the air and show what they can do.

Not everyone who tried out got on the air, though. To begin with, everyone had to go down to WCUB to audition. WCUB listened to these tapes and singled out five finalists. Meidl and Ording were both included in those five. The latter being the youngest finalist, described the situation as "different."

Each of the finalists got their own half-hour show Sunday, Sept. 27. Meidl had her spot on the radio from 3 to 3:30 p.m. Ording was on from 1 to 1:30 p.m. They introduced songs and their artists, announced time and temperature, and read weather reports. While they sat in one room, Bob Irish, an WCUB disc jockey, was in the next room actually putting on each record.

They both agreed that they weren't nervous until five minutes before showtime.

Even though neither of the girls won the overall contest, they seem to have had a lot of fun and enjoyed getting as far as they did in the competition. According to Meidl, "It was really a good experience."

The winner was a Manitowoc resident named Tim Weinberger. For winning, he received a $50 gift certificate and, most exciting, he got his own three hour show last Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. on WCUB.

So congratulations to the overall winner, the congratulations to our own two Lincoln students who made it all the way to the finals.

Ticket guarantees book

Flambeaus are memories enclosed within two hard covers which everyone can relate to. The Flambeau includes students, faculty, and special events such as Homecoming and Prom. We are all part of Lincoln in some way, and should all have a Flambeau to look back at when we're old and gray. Yet many of us don't buy Publications tickets. The only way you can be guaranteed a Flambeau this year is by having a publications ticket.

In the past late purchasers could get one by buying a patron ad for $16. Now why pay that much or take the risk that you won't even be able to get one that way? Besides, publications tickets cost only $9.25 and they guarantee you a Flambeau in the spring. Publications tickets are still available in the Finance Office, and will be until Nov. 2.

Another reminder: any seniors who haven't gotten their pictures in yet should do so by Nov. 1. They should be wallet-sized black and white glossy prints.

Manitou is the publication which provides for students' self expression. Contributions of poetry, stories, or pictures are appreciated. Names will be withheld upon request. So if you're neglecting to show your talent just because you don't want your name publicized, come out of hiding!

Flambeau, Flashes, and Manitou staffs work hard to make publications worthwhile for you, so buy a publications ticket and enjoy.

Art student's bride wins at State Fair

Many of us go to the State Fair each summer to have a good time with family and friends. We walk around, go on rides, listen to the music, or see the art show. To senior, Betsy Svatek, the art show was the most important thing at the State Fair this past summer.

Betsy is a talented art student here at Lincoln. Her art teacher, Mr. Ron Stokes, was responsible for a certain piece of artwork she did last year.

It all started when Betsy found some old-fashioned wedding pictures of bridal couples. She became interested in one certain picture of a bride and decided to do her own drawing of it. It was done on pencil on India ink.

Mr. Stokes saw it and decided to send it to the Young People's Art Exhibit in Milwaukee. There she won a GOLDEN KEY AWARD, and a scholarship to the Summer Studio. The Summer Studio is a program of workshops at the UWGB. From there Mr. Stokes sent the artwork to the State Fair. Later in summer, Betsy got a phone call from Mr. McLaughlin, a director in charge of the art show, stating that she had won 1st place at the Wisconsin State Fair. She could hardly believe it, but realized it was true when she received a letter confirming the phone call.

Betsy Svatek

The result of all this is that Betsy's artwork is going to be on the cover of the Young People's Art Exhibit brochures. These brochures are distributed to art teachers throughout Wisconsin in the spring.

The talent and hard work really paid off for Betsy this past summer, and she enjoyed every minute of it.

Class ring choices can be perplexing

Each year at this time students examine catalogs and choose the class rings that they like the most. They spend hours deciding and looking at friends' rings so that they can make a wise decision.

It isn't very hard to spend a couple hours looking at and reading pamphlets and brochures from the ring company. When it comes down to making the choices, you may as well reserve a whole weekend.

First of all, you have to choose the metal. There are two types of silver and two types of gold.

Next you have to select the type of stone you want. There are the birthstones and two basics: the mother of pearl and black onyx. After you decide on the color of stone, you have to choose between smooth top or facet top. You can get them in either sunburst, fireray, or India styles. By this time your head is swimming and you have either given up or decided to wait until "next year" to get one.

But the fun part hasn't even begun. You get your whole personal life revealed on the outside of your ring, the Select-a-Side!

You can choose symbols from a variety of things, such as sports, clubs, and zodiac signs, all in about ¼" of space.

Lastly, to personalize your ring, you have your name or initials put on the inside of it. As usual, you have three variations of signatures to choose from. Your initials, handsome script, and facsimile signature are the electives.

At the end you may be tired of decisions but once you receive your ring you'll be glad you took the time to pick exactly what you wanted.

Harriers placed second; Conference meet next

The LHS Girl's Cross Country Team finished second out of ten teams last Saturday at the Fond du Lac Relays held at the Lodgewood Golf Course.

Stevens Point, the number two ranked girls' CC team, finished first with 25 points.

Wausau East came in 3rd place, while Portage came in 4th and Sheboygan North came in 5th.

Place finishers for the Ships were Chris Schimemi in 8th with a 12:41 time, Chris Kirchen in 20th, Diane Coons in 21st, Camilla Dury in 23rd, Pam Schultz in 29th, Lisa Dury in 31st, Cindy O'Leske in 32nd, and Julie Olesewski in 50th.

Place finishers for the junior varsity were Teena Haas taking 2nd, Sue Zimmer in 7th, Cindy DeNamur in 8th, Karen Knier in 10th, Kim Lassee in 11th, and Tami Cohlmeier in 12th.

"I am very pleased with the last meet. I felt we did well," stated coach Connie Jaeger.

"We have a conference meet coming up next Tuesday in Fond du Lac. We have a stong chance to finish second place. We will be going up against a couple of tough teams, one of them being Green Bay Preble. They are ranked number-four in the state," said Jaeger.

"Another tough team we will be going up against will be Sheboygan North. They are a tough team and they will really give us a good fight. If we can get up for this meet, then we will have a good chance to come in second," added Jaeger.

After these next couple of meets are through, the girls' CC team will start preparing for the sectionals to be held October 24.

The boys' cross country team is now ranked fifth in the state. On Sept. 26 the Ships hosted the Manitowoc Invitational Meet. Steven's Point, which is ranked number-one in the State, won that meet.

Green Bay Preble, which is ranked number-three in the state, came in second. The Ships placed third in that meet. "I think that the place we took was about right if you look at the way everyone is rated," stated Coach Len Nikolai.

Last Saturday Manty traveled to Fond du Lac for the Relay Invitational. Lincoln placed second and Steven's Point came in first. "I think we might have been a little sluggish. If we do as well as coming in second on a bad day, then maybe on a good day, we can beat Green Bay Preble," said Nikolai.

"We have one more conference meet. It is a quadrangular meet at Sheboygan. After that, we have the Fox River Valley Conference next Tuesday," stated Nikolai.

Nikolai also added, "To win the conference meet, we have to beat Green Bay Preble. This will be tough because they beat us three times already this year. We would like to be able to bring back the title of conference champs to Manitowoc."

"I don't want to predict whether or not we will go as far as state...because all I want to do is to look to the near future, which is the conference meet," stated Nikolai.

Racquetball: fast, fun sport

It has been said that there is nothing to do in Manitowoc. Obviously people have not been looking that hard. On the North side, there is a large building called the Young Mens Christian Association or the YMCA.

At the YMCA you can do many things, such as swim, lift weights, play tennis or racquetball, train your dog, and much more. Many of these activities you can do at other places, but racquetball courts are only available at the YMCA.

In order to play this fast and exciting game, you'll need a few things. Shorts are best since you get very hot. A racquetball racquet can be purchased from almost any department store for between ten and twenty dollars. Balls will cost about three dollars. Finally, for your protection, eye guards are recommended. These run about seven-and-a-half dollars. Balls and rackets can be rented at the YMCA for 75 cents.

Racquetball lessons are available through the YMCA. Actual registration for lessons ended last week, but the YMCA can still make arrangements. Instructor Mark Hanke said, "Come down and we'll try to work something out to fit your schedule."

There are lessons for beginner and intermediate player. Beginner's lessons give you the basics in forehand, backhand, and the rules. Intermediate lessons go through more forehand, backhand, and strategies of the game.

Four lessons, if you have your own eye protection are $5. If you don't have eye protection it will cost an extra $4.

When you're done with the lessons, you can rent a court for $2 an hour. Only members can play, and memberships are reasonably priced.

The YMCA wants to get more youths interested in this sport so they can start a league. So the Y welcomes you to go down and play some racquetball.

The acquisition of John Jefferson gives the Packers two of the finest receivers in pro football. The other, of course, is James Lofton.

They gave up a lot, but Jefferson is a very talented receiver. In his three-year career, he has already become a superstar destined for the hall of fame.

Looking at the Packers record of high draft picks, they really didn't give that much for Jefferson. If the trade was made three years ago, the Packers could have lost Steve Atkins, Bruce Clark, and Gary Lewis as potential draft picks. Since none of them are starting in the NFL, that would have not been much to give up for a quality receiver.

We must remember that one person does not make a team. Jefferson will need help if the Packers are going to win this season. So don't bet on the Packers to be playing football next January.

Tennis season ends

The LHS Girls' Tennis Team has accomplished a lot this year. Their record for the year is 5-3.

The girls competed in the conference meet on Monday, Sept. 28. At that meet Manty's number-one doubles team of Dawn Schroeder and Amy Emme upset the number-two seeded doubles team and won in the first round. They took fourth place in that meet along with the number-one singles player, Tracy Schmidt.

Then, on Tuesday, Sept. 29, the tennis team went to the sub-sectionals.

Coach Kathy Mand said, "The sub-sectionals didn't go well. We had a lot of tough draws. I feel that the girls played well, but they had some tough draws. Some of them played the best I've seen."

Debbie Seehafer, the number-two singles player, drew against the number-one seeded player and lost in the first round.

The number-two doubles team of Sue Neff and Wendy Just drew against the number-three doubles team and they lost in the first round.

The number-one doubles team of Emme and Schroeder won in the first round and then they came up against the number-one seeded doubles team in the second round and lost.

The number-one singles player, Schmidt, lost in the first round.

Gridders beat GB East

by Jim Neuser

With their win last Friday, the varsity football team now has a record of 2-2. As the season has progressed, the team has had more game experience and therefore minor mistakes have been cut down from early season action.

Manty's first score came in the first quarter. Matt Pekarske had a 94-yard touchdown run. He broke several tackles and the Ships took the lead 7 to 0. Pekarske was the top rusher against Green Bay East. He ran the ball 30 times for a total gain of 216 yards.

Then with only 5 minutes, 39 seconds left in the game, Manty set up another scoring situation. First B.J. Rubic threw a 25-yard pass to Tom Emme. This ended up a half-yard short of a touchdown. On the next play, Mark Nickels came in and did a quarterback sneak. With the extra point, Manty was ahead 14 to 7.

The last score for Manty came with only 38 seconds left in the game. Tom Meyer put one through the uprights to win 17 to 7.

Other rushers included Steve Schleunes and Pascal Schroeder. Schleunes gained 41 yards in nine carries. Schroeder gained 37 yards in 4 carries.

The next game will be here, tonight against Green Bay West. West is undefeated in the FRVC. "We'll have to come up with a super effort against them," said Coach Ron Rubick.

The following game will be Manty's homecoming. They will be facing Green Bay Southwest. "We think we can beat them if our defense can hold them and if the offense can move the ball like they did in this game (against Green Bay East)," said Rubick.

DeBaker, Robinson help Medley relay place 2

The 1981 girls' swim team, as in past year, has not been doing so well. This is not really due to poor ability or loafing. The real reason is there are not enough girls out for the team, which makes it very hard on the few swimmers who are out.

As of last Monday, the girls had a season record of 1-7. Team Captain Sally Anderson has been a great help in their meets. Stacie Robinson has also helped a great deal.

Robinson did a super job in their dual meet against Green Bay East, even though they lost. In the 200-IM she swam to a first-place finish in a time of 2:32.8. She also won the 100-free in a time of 59.7.

Cheryl DeBaker won the 100-back in 1:09.7. She then took second in 50-free. Also the 200-Medley Relay team of Debbie Beck, DeBaker, Robinson, and Wendy Tomme placed second.

All the members of the team must have a positive attitude and strive to meet their personal goals. Also the team must work together if they want a personally successful season. "One swimmer does not make a swim team, they all have to work together," says Coach Mary Schambow.

Hanson, Mann kill East

The girls' volleyball team has a record of 2-5.

Pam Kjono, coach of the volleyball team said, "This past game (Oct. 1) we played well enough to get by."

Mary Bull served 12 points, Stephanie Mann served for eight points, Tracy Powers served for six points, and Andrea Jahnig served for five points.

Heidi Hanson had three kills and Mann had two kills.

"Our receive percentage was 34. The serve percentage was only 46. It was very low. It should be 80 per cent. Our spike efficiency was 22 per cent," said Kjono.

"The upcoming games look very tough. We will be playing very good teams and I hope that we can play our best at each match," stated Kjono.

One member had this comment, "Playing any sport takes a lot of hard work and concentration. Sometimes, no matter how hard you try, you just can't get the end score to be what you want it to be. As long as you tried your hardest, you are a winner. Some games you will feel like you did the best job ever and still lose the game. Other times you feel like you did bad but you win the game anyway. Like the saying says, it's not whether you win or lose, it's how you played the game."

All of the girls on the volleyball team would love to see more fans at the meets. They would like the support of fans to help them win.
